PROVISIONAL PROGRAM OUTLINE

The biennial International Workshop on CLL (*iw*CLL) has been at the forefront of CLL research for the last 30 years, and is well established in the calendar of premier scientific meetings. The 13th meeting, to be held in Barcelona, Spain, 16–18 October 2009, will address a number of exciting topics, including:

- Epidemiology
- Biology
- Diagnosis
- Prognostication
- Immune disturbances
- Current treatment paradigms
- Stem cell transplantation
- Novel treatment agents

The 13th *iw*CLL meeting is a 'not to be missed' gathering for anyone interested in CLL. The program will be built mainly upon the best submitted abstracts, and will include overviews by experts in each field.

The meeting will also include invited lectures and interactive sessions, involving attendees, the *iw*CLL core group members, and specialists who are recognized worldwide.

If you are interested in CLL, do not miss the opportunity to meet your international colleagues in this friendly gathering in one of the most enticing cities in the world!
